Homemade racers compete in second annual Soap Box Derby

Sunshine presided over Didsbury's second annual Soap Box Derby on Saturday. The annual event featured some of the best homemade stock cars. Racers aged eight to 14 competed and there were some creative designs as the competitors vied for top place in the derby. The event is sponsored by the Didsbury Lions Club.

Heritage Day Celebration to honour volunteers

By Chris Puglia

June 22 will be a momentous occasion in Didsbury as events are planned to celebrate three significant aspects of the community.

The first is a celebration of the people that help make all small towns vibrant and exciting places to live, those are the community volunteers.

June is the perfect month to honour volunteerism, not only is it active living month, but also seniors week and Didsbury Volunteer Week both fall in June.

Didsbury Community Services Director, Rhonda Hunter, says that the day is perfect.

"When we heard the Express was coming to town the same day, we discussed it with the Lions to make it one full day," said Hunter.

The town will combine the volunteer celebration with the recognition of the 100th birthday of the Didsbury Train Station and the centennial anniversary of Didsbury's incorporation as a village.

The volunteer awards will be presented at 11 am at the train station and nominations were taken all last week and are currently being judged.

The four categories are Outstanding Volunteer of the Year, Rural Volunteer of the Year, the Volunteer award, and the Family Volunteer award. The awards were sponsored by the Show and Shine Committee, the Carstairs Ag Society and The FCSS committee.

Aside from the volunteer awards every facet of the Didsbury volunteer community will be setting up booths during the Heritage Day Festival to showcase what they do. Hunter says there will also be a host of entertainment, and events held throughout the day that will be fun for the whole family.

Later in the day from 2-4 there will be slo-pitch game that will pit local businesses against local volunteers. The ball game will feature mystery guest umpires and a dunk tank.

Players are still needed for the ball game, which promises to be a lot of fun.

MOUNTAIN VIEW SENIORS HOUSING

Didsbury lodge working towards reducing debenture

by Chris Puglia

Attendance was good for a silent auction and barbecue put on by the Mountain View Seniors Housing Authority. The event raised $6,000.

It's no secret that the new Didsbury lodge will be partly constructed on borrowed money. The question, however, is how much money will the Mountain Seniors Housing will have to borrow for the project.

With that in mind fund-raising has been going strong and $2.5 million has been raised towards the $4.5 million facility. The latest fund-raising initiative was a silent auction and barbecue held Thursday, June 6th.

This was the first of what is hoped to be an annual event and Mountain Seniors Housing CEO Dorreen Wilson says she is pleased with the response from the community.

"We're grateful to the community for supporting the event and we look forward to holding it again next year," said Wilson.

A host of businesses donated to the auction to help raise the $6,000 the event brought in and Wilson says more fund-raisers are planned.

One of the greatest barriers to fund-raising for the new lodge is the fact there is no empirical evidence of the facility except an open lot representing its future site. But, Wilson assures the building of the lodge will begin in August.

Currently the board is awaiting the completion of final drawings of the facility which will be presented at a public meeting. "We're certainly excited about the project and we will continue to do fund-raising, the more we fund-raise the less we have to borrow," said Wilson.

More fund-raising initiatives are planned starting in the fall.

RCMP detachment members heading to G-8 Summit

by Chris Puglia

Three officers and one member of the Didsbury RCMP detachment support staff are suiting up to head to the G-8 summit from June 16 to 22.

The four will be posted for security detail during one of the highest profile conferences of international leaders, along with members from the Sundre and Olds detachments.

Sgt. Ron Platz, of the Didsbury Detachment assures the community that the reduction in staff will not effect local policing.

"We will be just fine, this leaves us with five members here and support staff; it's not different than people being on summer vacation," said Platz. "It's a process in the RCMP's agreement in policing the province of Alberta and it's something that has to be done."

As a contingency, while the officers are away the detachments of Didsbury, Olds and Sundre have set up an emergency response plan.

The plan is designed in case a major event occurs in either of the three communities that may put pressure on the existing manpower.

"With any emergency we will be responding to the respective area," said Platz. It has been assured that the detachment area of the Didsbury RCMP will not see a difference in the level of policing.

The staff of the detachment attending the summit are Cst. Chris Reister, Cst. Chris Goyetche, Cst. Steve Woolnough and support staff

Didsbury faculty opts out of grad

by Chris Puglia

The decision made by teachers to withdraw voluntary services within schools has raised some controversy amongst staff, trustees, parents and students.

The most pressing question raised is what defines voluntary services within the school environment. And, it seems, currently school faculty have not come to a consensus on that point themselves.

That was highlighted last week when the Didsbury faculty opted out of participating in graduation ceremonies. The decision indicates that Didsbury faculty agreed that graduation ceremonies are a volunteer service.

However, it seems other local schools did not share that perception. In Olds, Carstairs, Sundre and Cremona, faculty did, or will, participate in this year's graduation event. According to Chinook's Edge board of education they are unaware of another school not participating or not planning to participate in this year's grad ceremonies.

"The only one that I know of is Didsbury," said Chinook's Edge Chair Roy Brassard.

One local parent said she was disappointed with the fact the teachers took a step back this year from the Grad ceremony.

"The parent's weren't really happy, we were basically just disappointed for the kids, they've been working at this for 12 years," said Barb Dalziel whose daughter Jody graduated this year. "The principals and vice principals in Olds, Sundre, Carstairs and Cremona they're all participating," she added saying she called the individual schools to see if the action in Didsbury was division wide.

"They're (the principal and vice principal) saying it's not really graduation it's commencement because they haven't written their finals," said Dalziel. "I think they should be involved, they should be the ones handing out the diplomas not the mayor."

Mayor Dorothy Moore was approached by the grad class to hand out certificates when the students learned the principal would not be doing so as traditionally expected.

Despite the fact there was no teacher involvement in the ceremonies it was noted by parents and students that Mrs. Janine Becker and Mrs. Annette Worth both assisted in the planning of the event.

All the senior high teachers were invited to the ceremonies as well, if not to participate, then for moral support, however only a handful of the senior faculty were in attendance.

Dalziel said the students didn't dwell on the fact there were a number of teachers absent, but there was some disappointment voiced during the ceremonies.

"You can't dwell on it... (but) some kids did say I wish this teacher would have been there or that teacher would have been there," said Dalziel.

Chez Peters, a member of this year's graduating class said she was pleased by the way the ceremonies went and she expressed appreciation with the teachers that did get involved this year, but also voiced disappointment with the fact most of the faculty withdrew from this year's ceremony.

"We still wanted the teachers to be involved," said Peters. "I was a little bit offended, this stuff is really important to us and they say this is really about us, but we're the ones really getting hurt in the end."

Peters says the students were discouraged this year from handing out certificates because an official ceremony for that purpose was being planned for later in the year, once all the student's grades are back.

"We did not want to cut it out of the ceremony...it is such a big part," said Peters.

Although there is an official ceremony planned in September where the faculty will be involved and all the students will be invited back, Peters says it is unlikely there will be many students in attendance.

"There will be lots of people in our grade who will be gone and will probably not come back," said Peters. A number of students will be moving on to study out of province and out of country and a few overseas as one student prepares to leave for Costa Rica.

"I would never replace what we did at the end of the year with that (the September ceremony)," added Peters.

In the end the students really only wanted one thing to help celebrate the culmination of 12 years of schooling and experiences that were aided by their mentors, the Didsbury High School faculty.

"I think it would have been nice if they would have celebrated with us," concluded Peters.

Principal Steve Thompson said the faculty at Didsbury High would have liked to have been a part of the grad ceremonies and adds they tried to negotiate a way for that to be a possibility.

One alternative suggested was that the ceremony be held during the day, during school hours as was done in Sundre.

However, Thompson says the students didn't want to change the format of the celebration, a decision he says was respected by the teachers.

"We never made them feel like this was something they shouldn't do," said Thompson.

Thompson says it is unfortunate that the action being taken by the teachers is being perceived as them being pit against the students.

"I think you find teachers would have liked to have been there, but in this particular year we are trying to make the community aware of the shortcomings in the public education system," he says.

The Alberta Teacher's Association vote to withdraw voluntary services was supported by a majority of teachers.

"Once that vote was taken, I have to support the decision of all teachers, as principal that is my role," said Thompson.

As well Thompson says there was never an instance where teachers were told or made to feel they could not make an individual choice on whether to participate in the grad ceremonies.

"There was never a time when they were putting their 'necks on the line'," said Thompson.

$1,300 raised by the Show and Shine Committee through the sale of t-shirts and a raffle was donated to various town organizations. Show and Shine Committee Chairman Glenn Smith presented cheques to the Didsbury Elks' Treasurer Ron Patten, Chamber Vice President, Val Puttick, West Didsbury 4-H Leader, Doug Miller, Mayor Dorothy Moore for the Community Services, Mountain View Senior's Housing, CEO Doreen Wilson, Just Done for Fun representative Trudy Goode and Prairie Partners 4-H representative Rod Hannah.

New association proposed for Didsbury recreation management

by Chris Puglia

A new proposed recreation association is looking to bring the community of Didsbury together in the common goal of recreation management.

The association which will be called Didsbury and District Sports Association will look at creating a multitude of benefits for the host of recreational activities available in Didsbury.

The idea is being spearheaded by Val Facey who grew up in Didsbury and has recently moved back from town after living in Calgary.

"I thought of the concept after moving here and noticed nobody working together as a community in the interest of all the sports," said Facey.

Drawing on a similar idea that was organized in the Coventry Hills district of Calgary, where Facey is formerly from, she is trying to promote a more community approach to recreation management.

"Our vision statement is 'to provide an encouraging, safe, respectful and enjoyable environment for youth and adults to participate in activities that develop active living opportunities, social, teamwork and athletic skills,'" she says.

Benefits outlined in the proposal include the promotion of community spirit and interaction, potential subsidies, fundraising initiatives, break in fees and the better promotion of community functions such as Canada Day.

There would also be a better opportunity for local sporting program to access grant money.

"There are so many grants out there that we aren't taking advantage of and with this association there will be somebody put into place to do things like that," said Facey.

The recreation association in Coventry Hills has been operating for approximately eight years and Facey says they do quite well.

Facey says the association will be looking to include every facet of the recreation community in town.

Aside from benefits to the organization and planing structure the new association would also be helpful in working with the town during the planning process of the new outdoor recreation facility.

"The town is really promoting the idea, they'd rather deal with one group than 50," said Facey.

Recreation program in Didsbury are currently meeting the expectations of the public, Facey says the association being proposed would help alleviate administration concerns that have been raised by individual organizations.

The first step in setting up the Didsbury and District Sports Association will be to get the public to buy into the idea. Rhonda Hunter, director of Community Services for the Town says the municipality has bought into the spirit of the new committee.

"We think it's great, we'd certainly like to see it go," said Hunter.

The formation of the group will be a big help to the town during the planning, fundraising and construction of the new outdoor recreation facility.

"We need a lot of participation to realize fundraising and fruition of the recreation centre," said Hunter.

To facilitate community support a public meeting is being planned tentatively for June 24th.

Facey says anyone interested or looking for more information can contact her at home by phone at 335-1996 or by email at faceyam@shaw.com.

Pain in the tooth

Chris Puglia
Editorial

have my wisdom teeth removed.

Well, 6 a.m. Thursday morning I was awakened by sharp stabbing pains in my jaw and I had the sinking feeling I was not going to be able to deny that need any longer.

As the day went on and the pain continued to get worse even after swishing with anbesol, which only succeeded in numbing my mouth around the pain, I knew something had to be done.

I began calling dentist after dentist in the local area, each time getting the response that they were booked solid.

It is amazing how excruciating pain can change your perceptions on things. I went from wanting to avoid the dentist to wanting to settle for a plumber and a wrench to fix my problem.

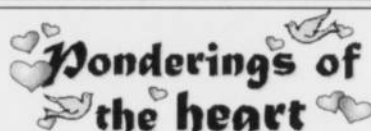

But luckily it didn't come to that, nor did I have to tie my shoelaces to the door to remove the aching monstrosity at the back of my jaw.

After some calling and pulling a few strings, the good thing about journalism is we know someone in almost every field, I was able to get into see a dentist.

Finally sitting in the dreaded dentist's chair I was finally relieved of the wisdom tooth causing the problem, and was met with astonishment from the dentist and the hygienist at the fact my tooth had four roots, normally there are only three.

Well I guess if I was a dentist that would be exciting to me too.

So if any of you are thinking that putting off having your wisdom teeth out because they aren't that bad. Trust me, you don't ever want them to be that bad. After you're done you may want to change jobs too, I mean where else but in a dentist's office can you make 200 bucks for fifteen minutes of work.

A Unique Experience

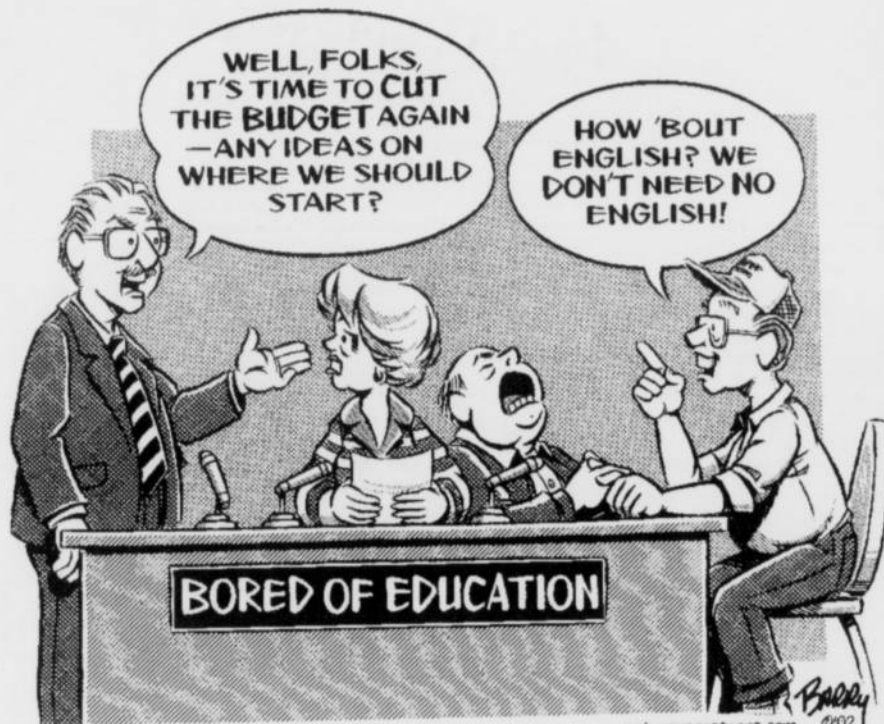

by Margaret Fradley

Last month I had an appointment with a specialist in the city. Prior to my appointment time, it was necessary for me to have some tests taken. You might say "well what's so unique about that?" Well just be patient with me.

Following my tests and finally getting into the little cubicle waiting on the doctor, decked out in my elegant skimpy hospital gown, finally the doctor appeared at the door and wondered what I was doing there. They had completely forgotten about me, and he did not realize he still had another patient. I asked him if it would have been possible for them to close up and leave me there, he admitted it could be a possibility. Most everyone had already gone. However, he graciously returned and examined me.

My husband who was waiting in the waiting room all this time, did some murmuring, and did not see anything funny about the situation at all, for some reason it touched my funny bone, and I thought it was hilarious. I was thinking only about how funny the situation really was and my husband was thinking of "what could have been."

I wasn't forgotten, only 'nearly forgotten' - what a difference!!!

Rural intersections deadly safety issue

Drivers who ignore stop signs or rush through intersections in rural Alberta kill dozens of people every year and injure thousands more. According to RCMP, intersection crashes on rural roads are one of Alberta's most serious traffic safety issues.

A Fort Saskatchewan woman died this week in a collision at a rural intersection in Strathcona County. Charges are pending against a driver who may have run a stop sign.

Intersection crashes tend to be very severe, especially on rural roads and highways because they happen at high speeds, says Staff Sgt. Seppo Votkin of the RCMP in Strathcona County. Further, most intersection crashes involve broadside collisions, where there isn't much metal to protect the people inside the vehicle.

"Given the potential seriousness of this type of crash, you'd think people would be extremely cautious when approaching intersections, but that's not always the case," says Staff Sgt. Votkin. "Time and time again, we see people rolling through intersections - or not stopping at all. It's a deadly habit to get into because one day, their carelessness will catch up with them."

A 1999 survey of drivers in rural Alberta revealed that only one in four rural drivers stop at stop signs. The survey, conducted by RCMP, regional health authorities and Transport Canada, also showed that only seven in ten rural drivers wear their seatbelts, compared to almost nine in ten drivers in urban areas.

"There's a misconception out there that it's safer to drive in the country because there are fewer cars on the road and less chance of being stopped by police," notes Don Szarko of the Alberta Motor Association, a partner in the MISSION POSSIBLE Traffic Safety Initiative. "But the reality is, the majority of Alberta's serious crashes happen on those quiet country roads."

About 27 per cent of all traffic deaths in RCMP (mainly rural) jurisdictions are intersection related and 12 per cent of all traffic deaths in 2001 happened because someone ran a stop sign.

Staff Sgt. Votkin notes that rural intersections close to major centers are among the most deadly with higher traffic volumes and higher speed limits than those within city limits. On average, collisions annually kill 380 Albertans and injure 26,000, at a total societal cost of some $4.7 billion. Traffic trauma is the leading cause of death and injury for Albertans under 30.

Partners in the MISSION POSSIBLE Traffic Safety Initiative work to reduce the number and severity of collisions on Alberta's roads. Partners include the Alberta Motor Association, police services, regional health authorities, government, Alberta Automobile Auto Insurers, corporations, industry and concerned individuals across the province.

Principal responds to editorial

Dear Editor,

I feel I must respond to the letter and the editorial of June 12, 2002.

Let me first say that there was no attempt to be "rude" or "unthoughtful". We had met with all Grade 12 students well in advance (1 month) to explain the situation. Students were aware, as best we could explain, the conditions that had led to the withdrawal of voluntary services and the impact on their commencement. We had also explored possible solutions with the Grad Committee almost 2 months prior, however students were interested in continuing with their commencement, already 3 months in to the planning and we respected that.

We are proud of the accomplishments of our graduates and congratulate them on their success. As a result, we are holding a fall convocation to formally recognize students, which we were unable to do in the spring. This will be a cap and gown ceremony, including academic awards and scholarships, and will be held on Saturday, September 28, 2002 in the Westglen gym.

Unfortunately, even though I spoke to Richard Westlund, his editorial for the most part is incorrect. He states, "I know some teachers wanted to be at the ceremonies to...". This should read, "All teachers wanted to be at the ceremonies to...". As well, there was no "pressure to tow the union line", only a democratic vote by teacher's on staff to determine the collective wishes of staff and the appropriate administrative response. The remainder of the article contains other incorrect statements, but as Mark Twain once said, "I never argue with people who buy their ink by the barrel". Therefore, if you would like the facts from people directly involved in the situation, please phone me at 335-3356.

Community support

Dear Editor,

It is hard to describe the feeling of being away from home and learning that your home and all your possessions in it have been destroyed by fire. There is such a strange emptiness inside when you think about having to start over. This is what happened to our family on May 18th. But in the weeks that have followed something else has also happened. We have only lived in our community for about four years. We did not get to know our neighbors very well because we were away so much. But we certainly know them now! And we are very grateful to them. Because of them the emptiness is gone.

Although I have been trying to write notes to most people who gave us gifts and money, I may have lost some names in the confusion of so much happening, so I say thank you here. Thank you to the newspapers for telling the story of our fire. Thank you to the people in three communities - Didsbury (where I work), Olds and Sundre - for their very generous response to our personal disaster. Thank you especially to the Macklins for taking us into their home, to Denise Dawson and the Eagle Valley community for organizing the benefit for us, to Madonna at the Alta-Vista Chiropractic Center for reaching out for us in Didsbury, and to all the churches and people in all three communities who gave us help with money and so many beautiful gifts. Now something has happened. Your money will help us to get started in a new home and the beautiful things you have given us will remind us every day of what wonderful people live the area where we have lived. Thank you from all of us: my husband Cesare Vacca, my children Eleonora and Max and myself.

Parent upset over outreach grads treatment

Letter to the Editor,

I want to start by saying congratulations to the 2002 Didsbury High School Grad Committee. These young ladies and men worked extremely hard to make their graduation a success without assistance from the teachers. Way to go!

I am however writing this letter to set the record straight. I am a parent of one of the young ladies that finished their last semester of high school at the Didsbury Outreach. The two that were told they would receive full participation in the Graduation Ceremony... with the exception of receiving the Didsbury High School Certificate. They did not. They paid Grad fees the same as every other child graduating this year. Even after a meeting with the principal, a teacher and members of the Grad Committee, these two had their names left off the program, they were left until last when the all the graduates were called upon in alphabetical order, they were not even acknowledged as was promised and they were seated in the back row... just the two of them. How quickly we forget, most of their lives were spent in class rooms with all of the other young ladies and men graduating this year. These two girls have gone to school with the rest of the graduation class, one since kindergarten the other since grade 6. They both received over half of their credits required by Alberta Education while attending the Didsbury High School. These young ladies chose the Outreach as way of completing their final semester and their final memory of 12 years of school will be awkward and uncomfortable. They chose the Didsbury Outreach, a part of Chinook's Edge School Division, as a way of learning that was better suited to them. These two, worked full time while completing their education. I say congratulations! In today's society, where so many children do not complete high school, these young ladies did. I say shame on the parents and all their whispers and Congratulation's Falon, Jade and all the other children that chose to complete your High School Diploma Requirements no matter which school you attended. I hope no other child is ever made to feel the way these two felt on such an important day in their lives.

I want to say a special Thank-you to Pat, Carol and the rest of the staff at the Didsbury Outreach, for supporting and encouraging these children to be the best they can be, when the conventional school system has let them down. Part of the success of the youth in our community is because of what you do and who you are!

CHINOOK'S EDGE SCHOOL DIVISION

School board highlights

1. Letter of displeasure regarding arbitration schedule - The Board of Chinook's Edge School Division No. 73 (CESD) was updated at its meeting regarding the schedule for upcoming provincially arbitrated hearings. CESD had been informed it was scheduled to be heard on July 2 and 5. However, Chinook's Edge has now learned it no longer has a scheduled arbitration date. According to provincial representatives, the date for Chinook's Edge was adjourned because the tribunal needs more time to complete its work with the first six Boards on its schedule.

Chinook's Edge Board voted today to send a letter of displeasure to the Alberta School Boards Association, regarding the decision of the Arbitration Tribunal to remove Chinook's Edge from the schedule.

2. Change in Transportation - Chinook's Edge School Division voted to approve a change to its transportation system, specifically bus routes currently transporting students from Red Deer Catholic School Division.

Currently, Chinook's Edge and Red Deer Catholic share some bussing routes. To do this, the school divisions have worked together to coordinate start and end times for school days, professional development days, teachers' convention and holiday schedules.

In consultation with each other, Chinook's Edge and Red Deer Catholic have decided to separate bus routes, effective September 2002. The separation will allow each school division the ability to determine bus routes and schedules based on what is most appropriate for its students.

3. Budget to be addressed June 26th - CESD's Board set an additional Board Meeting for June 26, 2002. The budget will be addressed at the June 26th meeting.

4. Support staff salary increase - The Board approved a 3% increase to the salary grids for support staff. The grids include support staff in division office, and in schools, such as administrative assistants and teaching assistants. There are also maintenance staff and bus drivers who are on grids.

5. Trustee Remuneration - Trustees voted to freeze their remuneration, based on the findings of a study undertaken in the last year.

6. Three Year Education Plan - The Board received a draft copy of the three-year education plan. The plan is written to update Alberta Learning on the Division's goals for the next three years, as well as some of the issues and trends facing the Divisions.

"The plan gives us an opportunity to give critical information about Chinook's Edge to Alberta Learning. Specifically, the report addresses the Division's goals, and concerns," said Jim Gibbons, Superintendent, CESD. "Especially with the upcoming Education Review, it's important we are clear about the challenges we face in education in rural Alberta."

Among some of the issues and trends outlined in the plan: the challenge of providing a variety of courses in small rural high schools, funding for technology, funding for special education, as well as others. The document also shows the Division's emphasis on literacy and math.

The plan will be presented at the June 26th meeting for final approval.

7. Field Trip Policy - The Board voted to amend its Field trip policy, to include an additional factor for consideration before approval for a field trip is given.

WHO'S PROTECTING OUR CHILDREN?

On March 26th, the BC Supreme Court ruled that written material describing "sodomasochistic scenes of violence and sex directed at boys generally 12 years of age and younger", HAS ARTISTIC MERIT and IS LEGAL.

That decision is an outrage.

Child Pornography is Child Abuse. It must be stopped.

Fireworks planned Canada Day

by Chris Puglia

Didsbury sky will once again burst to life this Canada Day with the annual fireworks display.

There was some question regarding whether there would be a firework display in town this year when there was very little support garnered by the town to participate in organizing the Canada Day celebration.

However, according to Rhonda Hunter, Community Services Director, indications from feedback the town received was that people did not want to lose the annual fireworks display.

So, the town looked into the budget and found the money to light up the sky in Didsbury to help celebrate our nation's 135th birthday.

"We asked people to get involved and we had one response," said Hunter. "At that point had virtually cancelled any activity or event including the fireworks. We got some feedback that isn't what the community wanted was for us to cancel the fireworks."

Hunter says the town will be looking for more participation next year, and hopeful they will be able to add to the Canada Day celebration.

"We just don't get a lot of participation (during Canada Day)," said Hunter.

"If the Volunteer and Heritage Festival goes well we might just stick with that and have it be Didsbury's day," said Hunter.

The Fireworks will once again be set off behind Ross Ford School at 10:30 on Canada Day.

Library Honours Fischer

Library honours librarian Mark Fischer for 26 years of dedicated service

Many well wishers gathered at the library last Wednesday evening to bid farewell to Mark Fischer. A display of snapshots compiled by Mrs. Fischer chronicled his life from infancy - the student, the farmer, the carpenter and the fun-loving uncle. Visitors pored over photos and clippings going back to the origins of the Didsbury Library.

While Mark has not been with the library quite since its inception, his 26 plus years of service were honored on this occasion.

Before the official presentations, co-workers offered him a book "Surviving the Wilds of Alaska" which, though a little tattered and the worse for wear, was a humorous reference to his upcoming journey to that northern state.

Dean Mousseau, representing the Town of Didsbury employees, presented him with a gift certificate and wondered aloud if any other municipal employees would be able to follow his example of longevity.

The Library Board, in a presentation by current chairman, Peter George, made him Didsbury's first honoree in the Lois Hole Library Legacy Program. The Encyclopedia of Furniture Making was purchased and inscribed with Mark's name and years of service.

While he has it first, it will then be added to the library's collection in his honour. Our Lieutenant Governor, the Honourable Lois Hole (also known as "The Gardener") implemented this "grow your library" campaign as a way of encouraging people to give to a friend or loved one and at the same time, give to your local library.

Mark's book was chosen to recognize his handcrafted additions to furnishing the library. Councilor Don Watt, former Mayor and Library Trustee reminisced about Mark's consistency of service over the years, especially in some of the library's smaller venues. On behalf of Council, Mr. Watt presented Mark with a beautiful watercolour by local artist, Laurie Winter, depicting Didsbury's grain elevators.

Everyone enjoyed fruit and goodies, and a cake which depicted his upcoming trip with a fork in the road as we all wished Mark well on his new path and future journeys.

Dirty Mothers banquet

Ball season is well underway and, after surviving the rain, snow and cold, the weather is shaping up for a what looks like a great June and July for play. At this time for the past five ball seasons also comes the annual Steak and Lobster supper hosted by the Dirty Mothers ladies slopitch team. The Dirty Mothers are excited to be hosting this year's event which will celebrate the 5th Annual Steak and Lobster fundraising event!

The Dirty Mothers will be participating in the SPN National Slopitch tournament that will be held this coming August long weekend. The tournament will be hosted in Calgary and the Mothers will be competing in the 35+ competitive division. This will be the fifth National Championship that the Dirty Mothers have earned their way into. The team has traveled to Prince Edward Island, Saskatoon, Niagara Falls, and Calgary to participate at national level for ladies slopitch. The team has always placed well at these tournaments and won the Bronze medal in Calgary in 2000!

The Steak and Lobster supper is the annual fundraising event for the team and a portion of fundraising will be donated towards the new ball diamond complex that is currently being planned. The remainder of the funds raised helps to pay entry - $500 - and to purchase equipment necessary to play the game!

The supper this year will be hosted on Saturday, June 22 at the Didsbury Memorial Complex MPR. Doors open at 5 pm, supper is served from 5:30 - 8 pm. All guests are encouraged to take in the Community Dance that is in celebration of Didsbury's Heritage and Volunteer Festival following the supper and starting at 8:30 pm.

Tickets are available for the supper from any Dirty Mother or by calling 335-3902 or 335-3788.

Rural health week in Alberta June 16 - 22

Rural innovation, success stories and quality skills will be celebrated June 16 - 22 through the launch of a new Rural Health Week in Alberta.

The new special week is the result of the collaboration of a group representing many provincial and regional rural health interests and will provide an annual focus to raise awareness and showcase some of the unique positive contributions and skills of rural health professionals and organizations.

Rural health service delivery faces some unique challenges not seen in urban areas - large geographic distances and the rural or remote lifestyle impact on the ease of access to health services. As well, recruitment and retention of nurses, physicians, rehabilitation and mental health therapists, laboratory technicians, and diagnostic imaging practitioners can be more difficult than in urban communities.

"Rural physicians face interesting challenges, which are being addressed by several initiatives," says Dr. Michael Caffaro, President of the Alberta Medical Association's (AMA) Section of Rural Medicine. "For example, the Rural Locum Program allows us to take breaks and provides us with peace of mind that medical care is maintained for our patients when we take time

Rural health professionals work together as a team to provide care for residents. They often have a special relationship with their clients as they also live and work alongside them as family, friends, neighbours, and community volunteers. Their health care skills and practices contribute to the quality of rural life and help to strengthen local communities.

Just as Alberta's health system is evolving, so too are rural health practices as they respond to emerging technologies, improved medical practices and the enhanced skills of rural health professionals. A variety of individuals and organizations are also engaged in rural health education and research that is resulting in better decision making, improved quality of care and better client outcomes. Telehealth services, new rural-focused training programs, and specialized care teams are just a few of the innovative new approaches to health service delivery developed regularly in rural Alberta as health professionals, organizations and communities work together to best meet the health needs of their residents.

"Health services are an important focus for rural communities. They are a powerful asset to local economies and enhance the quality of rural life," says Jack Hayden, President of the Alberta Association of Municipal Districts and Counties.

While there are many positive things happening, & financial pressures are significant...

"Rural health is at a crossroads. Historically it has provided exemplary care for its citizens but it is at a point now where, if it is not properly nurtured, that level of care may be dramatically lost," says Dr. Odell Olson, Chair, Rural Physician Action Plan "The pressure to transport every case to major centres may seem like a good solution at first glance, but may result in the removal of necessary skills and resources from local communities. Good quality emergency care, routine obstetric and chronic illness care and follow up of illnesses treated in tertiary care centres must be available locally."

According to the 2001

Census, about 925,000 or 31% of Alberta's total population of 2,974,807 is rural-based. Statistics Canada defines 'rural' as being the population living in towns and municipalities outside the commuting zone of larger urban centres with a population of 10,000 or more.

Summer Reading Program sets Sail

Lesley Winfield

You won't have to travel to the far reaches of the ocean to find adventure and entertainment this summer. All it takes is a quick trip to the Didsbury Library to register for the "Sailing the Seven Seas" Summer Reading Program running July 2nd - August 17th.

This is the second year Lesley Winfield has worked as Program Coordinator for the Summer Reading Program at the Library. Along with holding a Certificate in the Teaching Assistants Program at Red Deer College, Winfield is also working on her Bachelor of Education Degree. "I like working with kids," says Winfield who will teach eight classes a week once this summer's program begins.

The Program, developed by the Parkland Regional Library System, is targeted at encouraging children between the ages of four and 12 years to read more over the summer months. "The kids get prizes for the number of books they have read and the number of minutes they have spent reading," explains Winfield. "In keeping with the theme this year we will have a ship pasted up on the wall for each class of kids that participate. The group who have read the most books will see their boat travel around the Library first. It should be a lot of fun."

"Each week will incorporate a theme based on Sailing....there will be lots of crafts & activities...."

But chartering an imaginary boat around the Library is just the start of all that Winfield has in store with the Seven Seas tour this summer. "Each week will incorporate a different theme based on Sailing...there will also be lots of crafts and activities for the various classes to work on and (hopefully) a lot of prizes to give out."

The Summer Reading Program is free of charge to any child preschool to grade 6. Registrations are being accepted in person at the Library. "Last year we had 120 participants in the program. I think we'll have the same this year. It's a popular program."

From Nepal with Love

Luella and Richard Currie may reside in Didsbury, Alberta, but their hearts will always be in Nepal.

Since returning from a stint of missionary work there on May 26th, the couple are more thankful than ever to be living in a country where medical care is readily accessible. "We have a real concern for the medical system over there," says Luella. "It's a poor country with a lot of overcrowding with hospitals that are not very well run or staffed. It makes providing health care a real problem."

Luella worked with her husband in one of Nepal's western regional hospital facilities in Dadelhura. She as a nurse, and her husband as a hospital administrator. "This is actually the second time we have both been over to Nepal," Luella explains.

"The first time we were sent there we had to spend the first four months in Katmandu learning the Nepalli language and their alphabet....it's really not too difficult once you get on to it."

Understanding the challenges facing the Nepalli people, on the other hand, were a bit more difficult for the Curries to comprehend. "It's not uncommon for someone in need of surgery to have to walk up to two days to a hospital where the procedure could be done," says Luella. "...There's a lot of cases of malaria, tuberculosis and AIDS, a lot of people with lung problems and broken limbs because farming in the region is often done on hilly terrain."

In addition, some hospitals see up to 550 deliveries per year. "There's definitely a lot of overcrowding taking place and not enough clinics in the outlying regions to handle some of the problems we see."

Despite the difficult medical conditions existing in Nepal, the Curries couldn't wait to return. "We went on our first trip there in 1997," says Luella. "It was through TEAM (The Evangelical Alliance Missions)...We just couldn't wait to return to reacquaint ourselves with all our Nepalli friends."

Although they realize there is a lot of countries in need of missionary work, the Curries will likely return again to the one place that holds a special meaning to them both. "I guess our hearts will always be in Nepal."

Luella and Richard Currie

All Aboard for Excitement

Jim Adamchick

If you listen closely, you can almost hear it coming...that low rumble down the tracks drawing closer and closer. No, it's not an earthquake, rather the Empress Steam Train making its way towards the Didsbury to celebrate the 100th Anniversary of the Train Station this Saturday, June 22nd.

The arrival of the historical steam train replica will take place at approximately 10:30 am in time for the opening ceremony for the weekend long celebration. One of the event's organizers and Train Station Committee Member, Jim Adamchick, says a full roster of activities are set to unfold as the day progresses. "After the Mayor of Didsbury (Dorothy Moore) presents the volunteer awards and our MP Myron Thompson officially cuts the ribbon, we will be holding a Silent Auction right in the hall."

Of course not all the excitement that day will be reserved for the adults. "There will be face painting and balloons for the kids, music...all kinds of excitement. The Lions will even be there with their concession booth set up and many of volunteer and service organizations around town will be putting out displays for the folks to have a look at."

And that's just the start of what's in store that afternoon. Between 2:00 pm and 4:00 pm, organizers will be hosting a Celebrity Ball Game at the Jet's Ball diamond followed by a Steak and Lobster Dinner at the Multipurpose Room beginning at 5:00 pm. Live music will be available after dinner with a dance to follow.

More information about the weekend's activities can be obtained by contacting any Train Station Committee member or by stopping by the Station Saturday morning.

Focus on the Family

Question: Why is early supervision and discipline of a son by his father so important?

Dr. Dobson: Let me illustrate this principle with a recent finding from the world of nature. Other than dogs, which I have always loved, the animals that fascinate me the most are elephants. These magnificent creatures are highly emotional and surprisingly intelligent. I suppose that's why it is disturbing to see them suffering the encroachment of civilization.

That is happening in the Pilanesberg National Park in northwestern South Africa. Rangers there have reported that young bull elephants in that region have become increasingly violent in recent years — especially to nearby white rhinos. Without provocation, an elephant will knock a rhinoceros over and then kneel and gore it to death.

This is not typical elephant behavior and it's been very difficult to explain. But now, game wardens think they've cracked the code.

Apparently, the aggressiveness is a byproduct of government programs to reduce elephant populations by killing the older animals. Almost all of the young rogues were orphaned when they were calves, depriving them of adult contact.

Under normal circumstances, dominant older males keep the young bulls in line and serve as role models for them. In the absence of that influence, "juvenile delinquents" grow up to terrorize their neighbors.

I know it's risky to apply animal behavior too liberally to human beings, but the parallel here is too striking to miss. Let me say it one more time: The absence of early supervision and discipline is often catastrophic — for teen-agers and for elephants. Prisons are populated primarily by men who were abandoned or rejected by their fathers.

Motivational speaker and writer Zig Ziglar quotes his friend Bill Glass, a dedicated evangelist who counseled almost every weekend for 25 years with men who were incarcerated, as saying that among the thousands of prisoners he had met, not one of them genuinely loved his dad.

Ninety-five percent of those on death row hated their fathers. In 1998, there were 1,202,107 people in federal or state prisons. Of that number 94 percent were males. Of the 3,452 prisoners awaiting execution, only 48 were women.

That amounts to 98.6 percent males. Clearly, as author Barbara Jackson said, "it is far easier to build strong children than to repair broken men." Some years ago, executives of a greeting-card company decided to do something special for Mother's Day.

They set up a table in a federal prison, inviting any inmate who so desired to send a free card to his mom. The lines were so long, they had to make another trip to the factory to get more cards.

Due to the success of the event, they decided to do the same thing on Father's Day, but this time no one came. Not one prisoner felt the need to send a card to his dad. Many had no idea who their fathers even were. What a sobering illustration of a dad's importance to his children.

Contrast that story with a conversation I once had with a man named Bill Houghton, who was president of a large construction firm.

Through the years, he had hired and managed thousands of employees. I asked him: "When you are thinking of hiring an employee — especially a man — what do you look for?" His answer surprised me. He said, "I look primarily at the relationship between the man and his father. If he felt loved by his dad and respected his authority, he's likely to be a good employee." Then he added, "I won't hire a young man who has been in rebellion against his dad. He will have difficulty with me, too."

I have also observed that the relationship between a boy and his father sets the tone for so much of what is to come. He is that important at home.

Didsbury holds first Walk For Life

Debbie Sickstrom of Didsbury (left) conducts a short introduction along with Lola French and Angela Carmichael of the Pregnancy Care Centre prior to the start of the Walk for Life.

by Chris Puglia

A small congregation of supporters turned out for the first annual walk for life at the Zion Evangelical Missionary Church on Wednesday.

The event raised almost $2,300 for the Central Alberta Pregnancy Care Centre, which was setup to assist people dealing with unplanned pregnancy.

The centre is a ministry that advocates pro-life and offers a number of support programs for individuals who are trying to make decisions during the difficult times associated with unplanned pregnancies.

The centre offers a number of education programs on pro-life alternatives, free pregnancy tests, practical support in the way of food and clothing, medical care referrals, live in accommodations, childbirth and prenatal support, a 24 hour helpline, parenting education and spiritual support.

As well the centre prides itself on being a non-judgemental source for information. Although, they do not refer for abortion, they do offer post abortion counselling and education on abortion and information on alternatives to abortion.

The centre assists approximately 70 clients every month and director Lola French says they are happy to be able to provide the support.

"It would be nice if we didn't have the need, but we're glad we can help," she said. "We're a ministry that offers alternatives to abortion, but we're not there to tell them what to do. We believe if we love them and support them they will make a good decision."

Prior to the start of the Walk for Life Angela Carmichael who will be taking over as director following French's term shared two stories regarding people the centre has assisted, illustrating the need to provide ongoing support to their clients.

"One and a half years ago we had a young 15-year-old girl come in who was four months pregnant and she was feeling the pressures of pregnancy and was considering abortion," said Carmichael.

After some counselling Carmichael said the girl decided to carry her child to term and only last week they provided her with further support because she was going through a rough time.

"That's what we want to do is build relationships with our clients so they have ongoing support," said Carmichael.

The Didsbury walk was invited into town by Debbie Sickstrom and Dan Peters.

Sikstrom says a number of people from Didsbury attended the walk in Red Deer last year, which was one of the reasons they decided to hold one in Didsbury.

The Pregnancy Care Centre is expanding further into Canada and the United States.

Science Fair Student Kristen Tannas Israel bound

Kristen Tannas

by Chris Puglia

The political scene in Israel is one of tumultuous upheaval at the moment but that is not deterring a Didsbury outreach student's excitement at the opportunity to attend a science internship in the historically rich nation.

Kristen Tannas a Water Valley native was the recipient of the Weizman Scholarship following the Canada Wide Science Fair.

Tannas earned the $7,500 Weizman scholarship along with three other of the fair's speciality awards for her research on the ecological effects of fire on the Mountain region in Banff.

"I've known about this scholarship since '97, my parents let me sign up because they didn't think I'd get it. I'm still in shock, I won't believe it until I am there. "Israel is such an amazing place so much has happened there."

- Kristen Tannas

"This is my fourth trip to the Canada wide fair and I have never got a special award before and to get four was pretty neat," said Tannas.

The study was conducted in conjunction with Parks Canada over a four year period.

During her time in Israel Tannas will have the opportunity to work with a research team in fields of either medical or genetic research.

She will join 50 other students, six of which hail from Canada.

Each student has the opportunity to study in a different area of interest ranging from cancer research to research in the areas of physics and mathematics.

"The research is in every field of science," said Tannas.

But the trip is not all work and no play.

During the weekends and evenings the students get the chance to explore the rich culture and history of Israel.

A number of trips are planned to see locations such as Tel Aviv and the Dead Sea. Obviously due to the violent political scene that is ongoing in the nation some locations are off limits to the student excursions, including the holy city of Jerusalem.

Although Tannas says her parents are quite worried about her being in Israel right now she is still anxiously and excitedly awaiting the trip.

"I've known about this scholarship since '97, my parents let me sign up because they didn't think I'd get it. I'm still in shock, I won't believe it until I am there," she says. "Israel is such an amazing place so much has happened there."

Tannas added that it will give her the chance to learn Hebrew, something she has always wanted to do.

Despite her success in the field of science and the fact her parents and brother all work in the scientific community Tannas says her true interest is in journalism.

Her plan is to pursue a bachelors in Agriculture and then a masters in Journalism.

OLDS COLLEGE

Olds Graduates celebrated in high style

Olds College celebrated the graduation of 587 students in high style last Saturday.

"Our graduating class has grown by about 30 students over last year," said Pat Hunter, Olds College Registrar.

"We are proud of this growth and are pleased to see the first graduates of the new Land Information Systems program."

"This year's graduation also featured some special events."

Our valedictorian Blake Froman (past president of Olds College Students' Association) graduated with his second diploma from Olds College and this year the College is bestowed a special Honorary Degree to Wade Hartwell of Calgary," said Hunter.

Hartwell, an ardent supporter of Olds College for the past 25 years and a leader in Alberta's horticulture industry, was presented with an Honorary Bachelor of Applied Horticulture Technology degree.

Hartwell is president and owner of Golden Acre Garden Centres Ltd., which is the second largest garden centre in Canada.

He also co-hosts a popular gardening radio program and has been recognized by the National Society of Fundraising Executives in Calgary for "the generosity of his spirit."

"Olds College has certainly thrived under Mr. Hartwell's benevolence," said President Tom Thompson.

"He has shown outstanding support of many projects, such as our Botanic Gardens and Landscape Construction Pavilion."

We are pleased to recognize his support and he joins an illustrious group of Olds College success stories. We are extremely proud of the achievements of all our graduates."

Grads and guests were treated to a special address this year, from guest speaker Kevin Martin.

Martin's curling team captured the silver medal at the Winter Olympic Games earlier this year, and his successes have also included several Canadian and World Curling Tour Championships. As owner of Kevin's Curling Supplies in Edmonton, Martin is a well established businessman and entrepreneur. These are qualities he shares with this year's graduating class. Olds College graduation ceremonies took place at the Olds Sportsplex on Saturday, June 15, beginning at 2:00 p.m.

Mountain climber inspires local students

by Richard Westlund

It wasn't until a student threw a juice box at Derrick Stanbury, hitting him in the back of the head, that he realized he was unhappy with the way he was living his life.

He said he grabbed the keys out of the school bus he was driving, threw them in a bush and walked away.

"I realized that by giving up on my dreams, I was making my life miserable," said Stanbury, during a presentation to Westglen students last week.

It was that moment that motivated Stanbury, a person that never realized his potential during school. From that moment on, Stanbury decided he had to follow his dreams or he would never be happy.

Years later, he has an impressive resume and some amazing stories. Stanbury was the first Canadian to solo climb Mount McKinley - the highest point in North America, the first person to solo climb Mount Logan - the tallest mountain in Canada and the only person to climb the two Stanbury pleaded with students to always follow their dreams and to pay attention to their education.

Stanbury decided he was going to climb Mount McKinley while was on his first camping trip sleeping in a tent for the first time. He said that unlike the past he was willing to put everything he had into making his dream a reality.

In accomplishing his goal of climbing the highest mountain in North America by himself, he fell in a crevice, watched people being air-lifted off the mountain and had friends die in their pursuit of conquering the mountain.

Stanbury made the trip with a friend before he made his solo climb. He said the initial experiences climbing mountains gave him enough confidence and knowledge to learn how to scale the mountain by himself.

But even with that knowledge, the trips were not easy. He almost gave up after watching a Japanese climber lifted off the mountain after having a stroke. The brother of the Japanese man talked with him for hours, however, convincing him to continue.

With the summit in sight, Stanbury set up camp to rest and rehydrate himself. After boiling a bit of water, his stove conked out. He hadn't slept in two days, but knew with his stove not working, it was reach the summit now or never, so he set out once again.

He reached the summit after two hours and fell asleep on the peak. Two Austrians found him snoring on the top of Mount McKinley and woke him up.

"I can imagine those two climbers approaching the top of the mountain expecting to see something pristine and finding me snoring and drooling."

Stanbury has since retired from climbing mountains. He now owns a paving company in Vancouver and is a motivational speaker visiting about 200 schools per year.

Stanbury dresses a student up in his mountain climbing gear.

Northern most 6,000 metre peaks.

"What you are doing in school is getting the equipment that you will need in life," said Stanbury at the end of his 80 minute presentation.

"When you make your choices, that equipment will help you to make the right choices."

Derrick Stanbury, the first Canadian to solo climb Mount McKinley - the highest point in North America, gave an 80 minute presentation to Westglen students last week persuading them to follow their dreams.

CHINOOK'S EDGE SCHOOL DIVISION

School board will manage teachers' salary increase

My last column was in January. After that the A.T.A. strike began. Since we as a board followed a practice of having only one spokesperson during the labor disruption - the chairman - I stopped writing. Now that the arbitration panel has imposed a settlement and we are trying to return to normal it seems timely to resume this monthly article.

Unlike some other boards in the province, we can manage in the short term with the 14% teacher salary raise over two years awarded by the arbitrator.

This is because we had healthy reserves to draw on. However, if the provincial government does not boost the funding it gives boards we shall be in trouble down the road. (Though by the time we pull over to the curb, Calgary public board will have lost all its wheels).

In explaining why the teacher salary increase awarded was higher than might be supposed, the arbitrator gave the main reasons as the words and actions of Premier Klein and Minister of Learning Lyle Oberg that raised teachers' expectations. (I can give you the full text if you are interested).

Rick Bell, columnist for the Calgary Sun, expanded on this in an irreverent article titled "Money Talks" (July 17, '02): "But does the province now pay for the chaos they create? Oh no, Ralph and his inept education boss Lyle (Ostrich) Oberg put their heads in the shifting sand. It's not their problem. Let the school boards pay."

I do not expect much action from the provincial government until after it receives the report of its "Commission on Learning" in June of 2003. This commission has been given a wide mandate to examine all aspects of education in this province and make recommendations. The public is being encouraged to make presentations. This can be done through a workbook or at public sessions to be held across the province (Red Deer and Calgary will be our closest locations). More details can be obtained from Scott Graham at 423-6218 or at scott.graham@gov.ab.ca.

IAN TAYLOR

Two things are worth bearing in mind regarding this commission. First, is it likely to recommend radical changes to a system whose students now consistently produce top scores on both national and international tests, a fact the minister never tires of broadcasting? And second, will the government follow its recommendations? Provincial governments have been known to just ignore the findings of some of the commissions they have set up. The last important education commission was the Worth Report, many years ago. It is still gathering dust on some library shelf in the legislature.

As trustees we cannot wait passively for a year to see what somebody else decides. There seemed to be too much of that going on during the labor dispute. We have a mandate to govern the local system in a way that best serves our students with the resources we have available.

At our September board meeting there were lots of good news items. First among these for me was a look at our division's achievement test and diploma exam results from last year. They have shown a general improvement over last year when compared to the provincial averages.

This is all the more remarkable when you consider that our students missed twelve days of school for the strike but other places in the province missed no time.

First, we have to acknowledge the professionalism of teachers who focused on "need to know" curriculum and strove to bring their students along.

Secondly, we must give students the recognition they deserve for the stronger work effort they obviously displayed in the second semester.

Thirdly, there is another important reason to explain the improvement that has been going on steadily over the last five years and that is the emphasis this division has placed on professional development - giving teachers inservice so that they have the tools to do a better job. We have invested heavily in this area and it is gratifying to see the results paying off in improved test results by students.

Another piece of good news was that our enrollments across the division are higher than expected. Carstairs in particular received more than its share of this increase.

COMPILED BY GLENDA HUNSPERGER
FOR THE DIDSBURY MUSEUM &
HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Every woman in Didsbury was wheeling a baby buggy! That's not all that is amazing about the women in this picture. All these women and many of the little girls are wearing very fashionable hats, and aren't the dresses lovely. I wasn't around in 1911 but I do remember many of the ladies still wearing wonderfully, beautiful hats in the 50's, especially to church, and I loved it! The house in the background was built originally for Bill Liesemer and still stands at the corner of 2102-22 Ave... and I'll tell you more of that history in another article.

The Historical Society Meeting is held on the second Wednesday of every month at the Museum in Didsbury. Address is 2120-21 Avenue. Phone 335-9295. Membership is $20.00 per year.

THANK YOU

Rosebud Health Foundation would like to extend our sincere appreciation to companies who so spontaneously sponsored our first golf tournament. We had 78 golfers who turned out for a fun day of Texas scramble, a light lunch and a wonderful dinner prepared by the Carstairs Golf Club.

Every golfer went home with a prize and a promise that they would be back to the tournament next year. Thanks to the donations and golfers approximately $8,600 was raised that will go towards the purchase of much needed equipment at the Didsbury Hospital.

We would like to thank the following companies for their donations:

These companies sponsored a hole in the golf tournament: Didsbury Drugs, Grant Thompson RBC Dominion Securities, Mountain View Credit Union, Sanders Financial Services, Sunset Koulee Simmental, Vanda Agencies, Vernon Good Law Office, Wild Rose Machining Ltd., Keulkers Supplies Ltd., CLT Construction, Gordon Krebs Veterinary Services.

The following companies donated cash and/or prizes: Mountain View Regional Services, Dupont Chemicals/Ken Gratz, Sanders Financial Services, Rosehill Auction Mart, UFA Farm Supply Store, Didsbury Golf Club, Beaverdam Golf Course, Super 8 Didsbury Corp, Feegs Propane, Mountain View Motors, Dan Peters/Remax, Royal Bank of Canada, Fitness F/X, K&W Drive-In, Vanda Agencies, Marcos Bistro Bakery, Medallion Trophies, Alberta Treasury Branch, Columbia Rail Contractors, Olds Co-Op Association, Reimer International, M. Focus on the Family

QUESTION: I'm a teacher and I love my students. However, there is one kid in my sixth-grade class who drives me nuts. He works overtime trying to make everybody laugh.

What drives this impish child? Why does he want to make life miserable for me?

DR. DOBSON: We all remember the kid you're talking about. He's called "the class clown," and some other things that are less flattering.

He is a trial to his teachers, an embarrassment to his parents and an utter delight to every child who wants to escape the boredom of school. There are millions of class clowns on the job today.

It's my belief that boards of education assign at least one such kid to every class just to make sure that school teachers earn every dollar of their salaries. These skilled little disrupters are usually boys. They often have reading or other academic problems. They may be small in stature, although not always, and they'll do anything for a laugh.

Their parents and teachers may not recognize that behind the boisterous behavior is often the pain of inferiority.

You see, humor is a classic response to feelings of low self-esteem.

That's why within many successful comedians is the memory of a painful childhood. Jonathan Winters' parents were divorced when he was 7 years old, and he said he used to cry when he was alone because other children teased him about not having a father.

Joan Rivers frequently jokes about her unattractiveness as a girl.

She said she was such a dog, her father had to throw a bone down the aisle to get her married. And so it goes. These and other comedians got their training during childhood; using humor as a defense against the pain. That's usually the inspiration for the class clown. By making an enormous joke out of everything, he conceals the self-doubt that churns inside.

That understanding should help us meet his needs and manage such a child more effectively.

QUESTION: I am a single mom who is struggling to survive. Of all the things that frustrate me, I am bothered most by having to send my kids to visit their dad for three weeks in the summer.

That will happen next month and I'm already uptight about putting them on the plane. Can you help me accept what I'm about to go through?

DR. DOBSON: Maybe it will help to know that many other single parents have similar feelings. One of these mothers expressed her frustration this way: "I stand in the terminal and I watch the kids' airplane disappear into the clouds.

I feel an incredible sense of loss. The loneliness immediately starts to set in. I worry constantly about their safety, but I resist the urge to call every hour to see how they're doing. And when they do call me to tell me how much fun they're having, I grieve over the fact that they're living a life completely separate from my own. My only consolation is knowing that they're returning soon. But I'm haunted by the fear that they won't want to come home with me."

If the anxieties of that mother represent your own feelings, let me offer some suggestions for how you might make the most of your days alone. Instead of seeing the next three weeks as a period of isolation, view it as an opportunity to recharge your batteries and reinvigorate the spirit.

Single parenting is an exhausting responsibility that can cause burnout if it knows no relief. Take this time to enjoy some relaxing evenings with your friends. Read an inspirational book or return to a hobby that you've set aside.

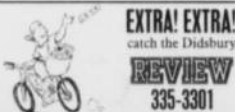

Fill your day with things that are impossible amidst the pressures of child care, recognizing that your children will benefit from your rehabilitation. They'll return to a re-energized parent, instead of one coming off six weeks of depression.

Westglen teacher returns to school after trip with daughters

Gwen Sanders

It's been two years in the making, but Gwen Sanders has found her way back to the books at Westglen School.

Sanders left for her short sabbatical to tend to a family illness and take time out to travel to Australia and New Zealand with her two daughters Mary (25) and Serena (22). "It was a wonderful experience," says Sanders. "...I don't think many other mothers get an opportunity to do what I did with my daughters and I wouldn't have traded it for the world."

Now that Sanders is back in the classroom with her new batch of grade 5 and 6 students, she couldn't be happier. "It's wonderful being back in the classroom again...the school has really changed...new staff, new students, but I think I'm settling into a routine now," says Sanders who previously only taught grade 6 students. "The grade 5 students are definitely a younger group to work with and you have to remember that when you are teaching them...after all this is their first year in the middle school and everything is much newer to them than the grade sixers..."

Seeing new faces each year has become somewhat of a tradition to Sanders who has taught at Westglen School since it first opened. It was one of her first teaching positions since achieving her Bachelors of Education from the University of Alberta and Masters in Science from the University of Calgary. "My major is psychology so hopefully it gives me some insight on how to work with my students," she adds.

Even with years of teaching experiences behind her, Sanders looks forward with anticipation to the start of each new school year. "No matter what, it's always been very rewarding for me to do what I do. The children make it all worthwhile."

Didsbury 5-0 Club gets new building manager

Anyone wishing to book the 5-0 Club facility will have someone new to deal with as of this month.

André Cavrois has just been appointed Building Manager by Club members on September 16th - a volunteer position that includes (among many other things) the position of booking agent.

"I take care of renting the hall out and keeping the building as clean as possible," says Cavrois.

Keeping things ship shape is nothing new to Cavrois who spent 23 1/2 years working as a janitor at St. James School in Winnipeg before moving out to Didsbury six years ago. "Winnipeg was getting too rough and we had a daughter and my grandson living out here so we wanted to move here too..."

The Cavrois' also have friends in the Carstairs area whom they would frequently visit.

"We just always thought this would be a nice area to one day move to and Didsbury was close...so here we are."

Cavrois is no stranger to the 5-0 Club. Two years prior to accepting the position as Building Manager he worked as Janitor of the Club.

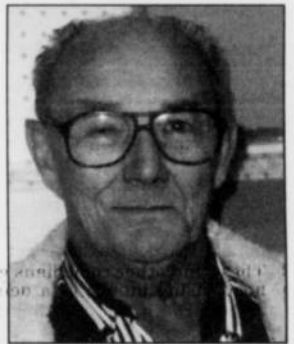

"I like the people there...they are always nice and helpful...and the pool tables there are really good - and cheap, just 75 cents per game," Cavrois jokes.

Cavrois takes over from Ward Eby who previously served in the position for six years. President of the 5-0 Club, Bill Jepps, remembers Eby's work fondly.

"I really appreciated him because whenever something was broken he would fix it right away...he was a real crackerjack that way. He will be missed, but I also know that Mr. Cavrois is a very capable man and will do a fine job as well."

Anyone wishing to make a booking at the Didsbury 5-0 Club can do so by calling 335-4264.

Ross Ford Elementary teacher fulfills lifetime dream

Rare is it that at a young age we know instinctively what occupation we want to pursue in life.

Yet for Marnee Shipclark, that question has never posed a burden. "I've always wanted to be a teacher," says Ross Ford's newest part-time teacher. "...ever since working with my sister's kids and helping them learn how to read. It's just something I felt I had to do..."

Pursuant to her dream, Shipclark will be working in the classroom alongside Grades 3 and 4 teachers Serenity Borrowman and Al Johnson.

"I'll be teaching Math, Science and Health this year," says Shipclark.

"...and also doing a bit of subbing. It's enough to keep me busy, that's for sure..."

Prior to moving to Alberta from Kamloops, B.C., Shipclark took her teaching degree at the University of British Columbia and Bachelor of Kinesiology from the University of Victoria.

But this isn't the first time Shipclark has lived in this part of the province. Last year she fulfilled a temporary position with the Rocky View School Division teaching in Beiseker.

"I have my horses which I am very attached to and when I moved to Beiseker a friend of mine told me about the Didsbury area and about an acreage that I could rent out here...I came down to check it out and decided to stay."

When Shipclark's not teaching, you can probably find her working with her horses.

"It's great to live here. I do a bit of showing in reining and being out here in this area gives me plenty of opportunity to do just that."

House Identification the smart and safe way

What would you do if a fire broke out at your home tonight and emergency officials couldn't identify which house was yours...or what if a loved one was suddenly critically ill and needed immediate medical attention. How would you direct the ambulance to your home?

These are just two of thousands of scenarios that could actually take place to you and your family anytime in the near future. The difference between whether they end happily or not depends, in many cases, how quickly emergency medical, fire, or RCMP officials are able to properly identify your home and come to your rescue.

Dino Siemens, of Safety Sign Posts, feels his company can help. The "posts" his company distributes and installs are not only double sided, but are made from highly reflective material easily visible at night.

"It's the same kind of material used on rural route signs," Siemens explains adding that the illumination from vehicle headlights is more than adequate to allow each post to be instantly visible. "It just makes it so much quicker and easier for any emergency services worker to find your home...having your friends find you is just a nice spin-off to their usage."

The concept of improving the numbering system displayed by households in both rural and urban areas was not a new one for Siemens to consider...nor, as it turns out, an original one. "I have been thinking about this for 20 - 30 years," Siemens says. "...But I had always thought of backlighting as a solution." It wasn't until a recent trip to Victoria that Siemens met another individual dedicated to the problem of improving house numbering. "That's where I first saw Safety Sign Posts and met up with the woman who invented them...I just thought it was a great idea."

That was over two months ago. Now, Siemens is busily distributing and installing Safety Sign Posts throughout the county.

"These (Sign Posts) are appropriate for rural or urban residences, and are bi-directional, meaning they can be viewed from either direction," Siemens says the signs can also be installed behind houses too, making it easy to identify your home from an alleyway.

Having a Safety Sign Post in place would have saved one area resident a lot of pain and discomfort. "There was one woman I know of who had an unfortunate accident on her horse and ended up being dragged quite a distance," recalls Siemens. "...they managed to call for an ambulance, but because their farm was not visibly identified, the ambulance drove right past their home. They ended up having to wait an extra 15 minutes to get the help she needed."

It's situations like that that makes Siemens wonder why anyone wouldn't want a Safety Sign Post. "Everybody knows that this is a good idea...like going to the dentist and buying life insurance...but getting people to act on it is sometimes a different story."

If you would like to learn more about Dino Siemens' Safety Sign business, call (403) 650-7248.

A reflective "post"

ENVIRONMENT

150 years ago, a native american spoke

Nearly 150 years ago Chief Seattle spoke concerning the offer of the US government to buy their extensive tribal land in the northwestern US and settle them on a reservation. I am quoting portions from his address.

"How can you buy or sell the sky, the warmth of the land. The idea is strange to us. If we do not own the freshness of the air and the sparkle of the water, how can you buy them?"

"Every part of the Earth is sacred to my people. Every shining pine needle, every sandy shore, every mist in the dark woods, every humming insect is holy in the memory and experience of my people."

"The shining water that moves in streams and rivers is not just water but the blood of our ancestors."

"If we sell you land, you must remember that it is sacred, and you must teach your children that it is sacred and that each ghostly reflection in the clear lakes tells of events in the life of my people. The water's murmur is the voice of my father's father."

We know that the white man does not understand our ways. One portion of the land is the same to him as the next, for he is a stranger who comes in the night and takes from the land what ever he needs. The earth is his enemy and when he has conquered it, he moves on. He kidnaps the Earth from his children and he does not care. He treats his mother, the Earth, as something to be bought, plundered then sold like sheep or bright beads. His appetite will devour the Earth and leave behind only a desert.

"The air is precious to the red man, for all things share the same breath - the beast, the tree, the man, they all share the same breath. The white man does not seem to notice the air he breathes. Like a man dying for many days, he is numb to the stench. If we sell you our land, you must remember that the air is precious to us. The wind that gave our grandfather his first breath also receives his last sigh.

"Teach your children what we have taught our children, that the Earth is our mother. Whatever befalls the Earth befalls the children of the Earth. If men spit on the ground, they spit upon themselves.

This we know- the Earth does not belong to man, man belongs to the Earth. All things are connected. Man did not weave the web of life - he is merely a strand in it. Whatever he does to the web, he does to himself.

"The whites too shall pass, perhaps sooner than all other tribes. When the buffalo are slaughtered, the wild horses tamed, the secret corners of the forest are heavy with the scent of many men and the view of the ripe hills blotted out by talking wires, where is the thicket, the eagle, all gone. The end of living and the beginning of survival."

Chief Seattle, 1854

We follow his predictions exactly.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

OBITUARY

It is with great sorrow that we announce the passing of our wonderful wife, mother, and grandmother Joanne Patricia (Pat) Janzen. Her passing followed complications of an ongoing heart disease. She was born Patsy Gibbs on August 1, 1929 in Didsbury, Alberta. She met Stan Janzen and married in 1949 and settled in Didsbury. Pat was extremely active in her community, especially with the United Church, having served with numerous capacities. She is credited with the establishment and ongoing success of the United Church Thrift Shop. She also enjoyed curling, golf, and her friends. She especially loved gardening and cooking which was a passion that she excelled at, including awards for her yards. Her greatest joy of all was her family, centered around her companionship with her husband, her children Howard and his wife Brenda, Penny, Mike, Jerry and his wife Deanne, and Kristy and her husband Shane; her grandchildren Kathleen, Elizabeth, David, Jason, Mallory, Nicholas, Amy, Trevor, Brett and Jodie; her great grandchildren Kiera and Caelan; and brother David and his partner Emily. She was predeceased by her parents Clifford and Annie Gibbs, her brother Garry, her grandsons Trevor and Jonathon. A memorial service was held September 21 to celebrate her life. If so desired, the family wishes donations to be made to the Alberta Heart and Stroke Foundation; or the Calgary Foothills Hospital Foundation for Leukemia Research.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to thank the two ladies (in yellow shirts) for their assistance when I fell because of the pot hole on the street in front of the Post Office. This incident occurred on Wednesday, Sept. 18. Their kindness was much appreciated.

Sincerely,
M. Hornby

ALBERTA HIGH SCHOOL RODEO Didsbury high school rodeo star heading to finals in Nevada

Jo Lawes rounds a barrel during competition. 18-year-old Lawes is a veteran on the rodeo circuit.

by Chris Puglia

Jo Lawes competed in her first rodeo when she was four-years-old and at that moment she was hooked and has gone onto a multitude of achievements.

Now the 18-year-old Didsbury High School student is in her fourth year of the high school circuit and a trail of successes follows in her wake. Her first year competing at the high school level she won rookie of the year.

Her second year she was elected Alberta High School Rodeo Queen and in her third year she was voted student president for the Alberta High School Rodeo Association. During her time as a director with the AHSRA she will also be remembered for organizing a $500 scholarship for future queens of the program.

This, her fourth and final year on the high school circuit, she earned a berth to compete in the Silver State International High School Finals, to be held in Fallon, Nevada. The five to 10 ranked qualifiers from the Alberta finals have the chance to attend the Nevada

"It's the only sport I can think of that you'll help the opposing team. In Hockey you're not going to give an opposing team player your stick, but in rodeo you'll give someone your horse so they can go and beat you," finals. The top four ranked qualifiers from that competition will be competing at the Springfield, Illinois,

High School Finals.

In all Lawes will join 59 fellow Albertans in competition in Nevada.

Lawes competes in the Barrel Racing, Pole Bending, and Goat Tying and qualified to compete in Barrel Racing and Goat tying in Nevada in July. Lawes says she loves the sport of rodeo and she comes from family of rodeo enthusiasts.

"My family has always been involved, since before I was born. My mom is a seven time Canadian Finals qualifier," she says. Lawes says she loves the competitive nature of rodeo, but has always respected the high level of sportsmanship involved as well. "It's the only sport I can think of that you'll help the opposing team. In Hockey you're not going to give an opposing team player your stick, but in rodeo you'll give someone your horse so they can go and beat you," said Lawes.

Local body builder gains nationals berth

by Chris Puglia

Many athletes go their whole careers without ever seeing a national competition from anywhere closer than the stands.

But, lightweight body builder Wanda Aubee will be competing in her first national championship after only two short years of competition.

Last year Aubee stunned herself after placing 5th in the provincial body-building championship and this year she improved on that performance finishing third at Provincials in Edmonton.

The third place finish gave her the last Alberta spot in the national championship scheduled for September in Toronto, Ontario.

Aubee says she is amazed at the fact that she is heading to nationals, it was something she never expected when she first started training. "I'm scared to death already," she says. "It's something I never considered when I started competing, I never considered I'd ever get to that calibre."

Aubee attributes her success this year to being in better physical condition this year, which was aided in part by her training partner, Vicky Johnson.

Aubee said having somebody training beside her helped a lot to keep her motivated. Of course there was also lots of discipline involved to maintain her enhanced physical condition.

Aubee is on a strict nutritional diet, which she says means a lot of egg whites and chicken breasts. But last week was her week off from training so she says she was enjoying being able to eat whatever she wanted.

Beginning Monday of this week she was back at the gym, which she and her husband Mark own. Her rigorous training schedule includes seven days of cardio training and five days of weight training per week.

She will maintain that schedule for the 12 weeks leading up to Nationals.

Aubee says she has no idea how she will perform at the National level and says she is just going for the experience and has no expectations.

"I'm just going for the experience and to say I had the experience to make it to that level."

She said she is hoping for sponsorship and there will also be fundraisers planned.

BUSINESS

BUSINESS PROFILE

Didsbury business targets computer niche

Jimbits new location is at the corner of mainstreet and 15th Avenue. His store is the first to go in the new strip mall that used to be the old lumber yard building.

Jim Penner is the owner and operator of Jimbits a new computer sales, repair, training, web design and hosting business. Jimbits is open six days a week from 8 am to 5:30 pm.

by Chris Puglia

Jim Penner is looking to corner the market in the Didsbury computer industry offering a wide range of services.

Penner's business entitled Jimbits, located at the corner of 15th Avenue and main street is taking a multi-disciplinary approach to computer services.

Not only can you walk in and purchase a new system, either from one of their pre-built packages or custom to your needs. Jimbits offers a wide range of other computer services as well.

From web design, to system servicing, parts and sales, to web hosting and computer training, Jimbits is a one stop shop for all your computer needs.

Whether you are a business or a private individual Penner has services that will appeal to your needs.

One of the more asked about services Jimbits plans to offer is a variety of training in computer software and use.

He says he has already had a number of inquiries regarding when training will be offered.

"This fall we're looking to start up some courses in basic computers, microsoft office and website maintenance," says Penner.

Since November Penner was working on his business from his home on a part time basis, but he says he decided to go full time and open his own location along main street.

"I felt there was room in town for a business like this," said Penner.

Microsoft and Novel certified as well as holding diplomas in computer programming and networking, Penner has the knowledge and seven years of experience, which will help him to fill the needs of each of Jimbits' customers.

Penner says he chose Didsbury for the location because it is where he grew up.

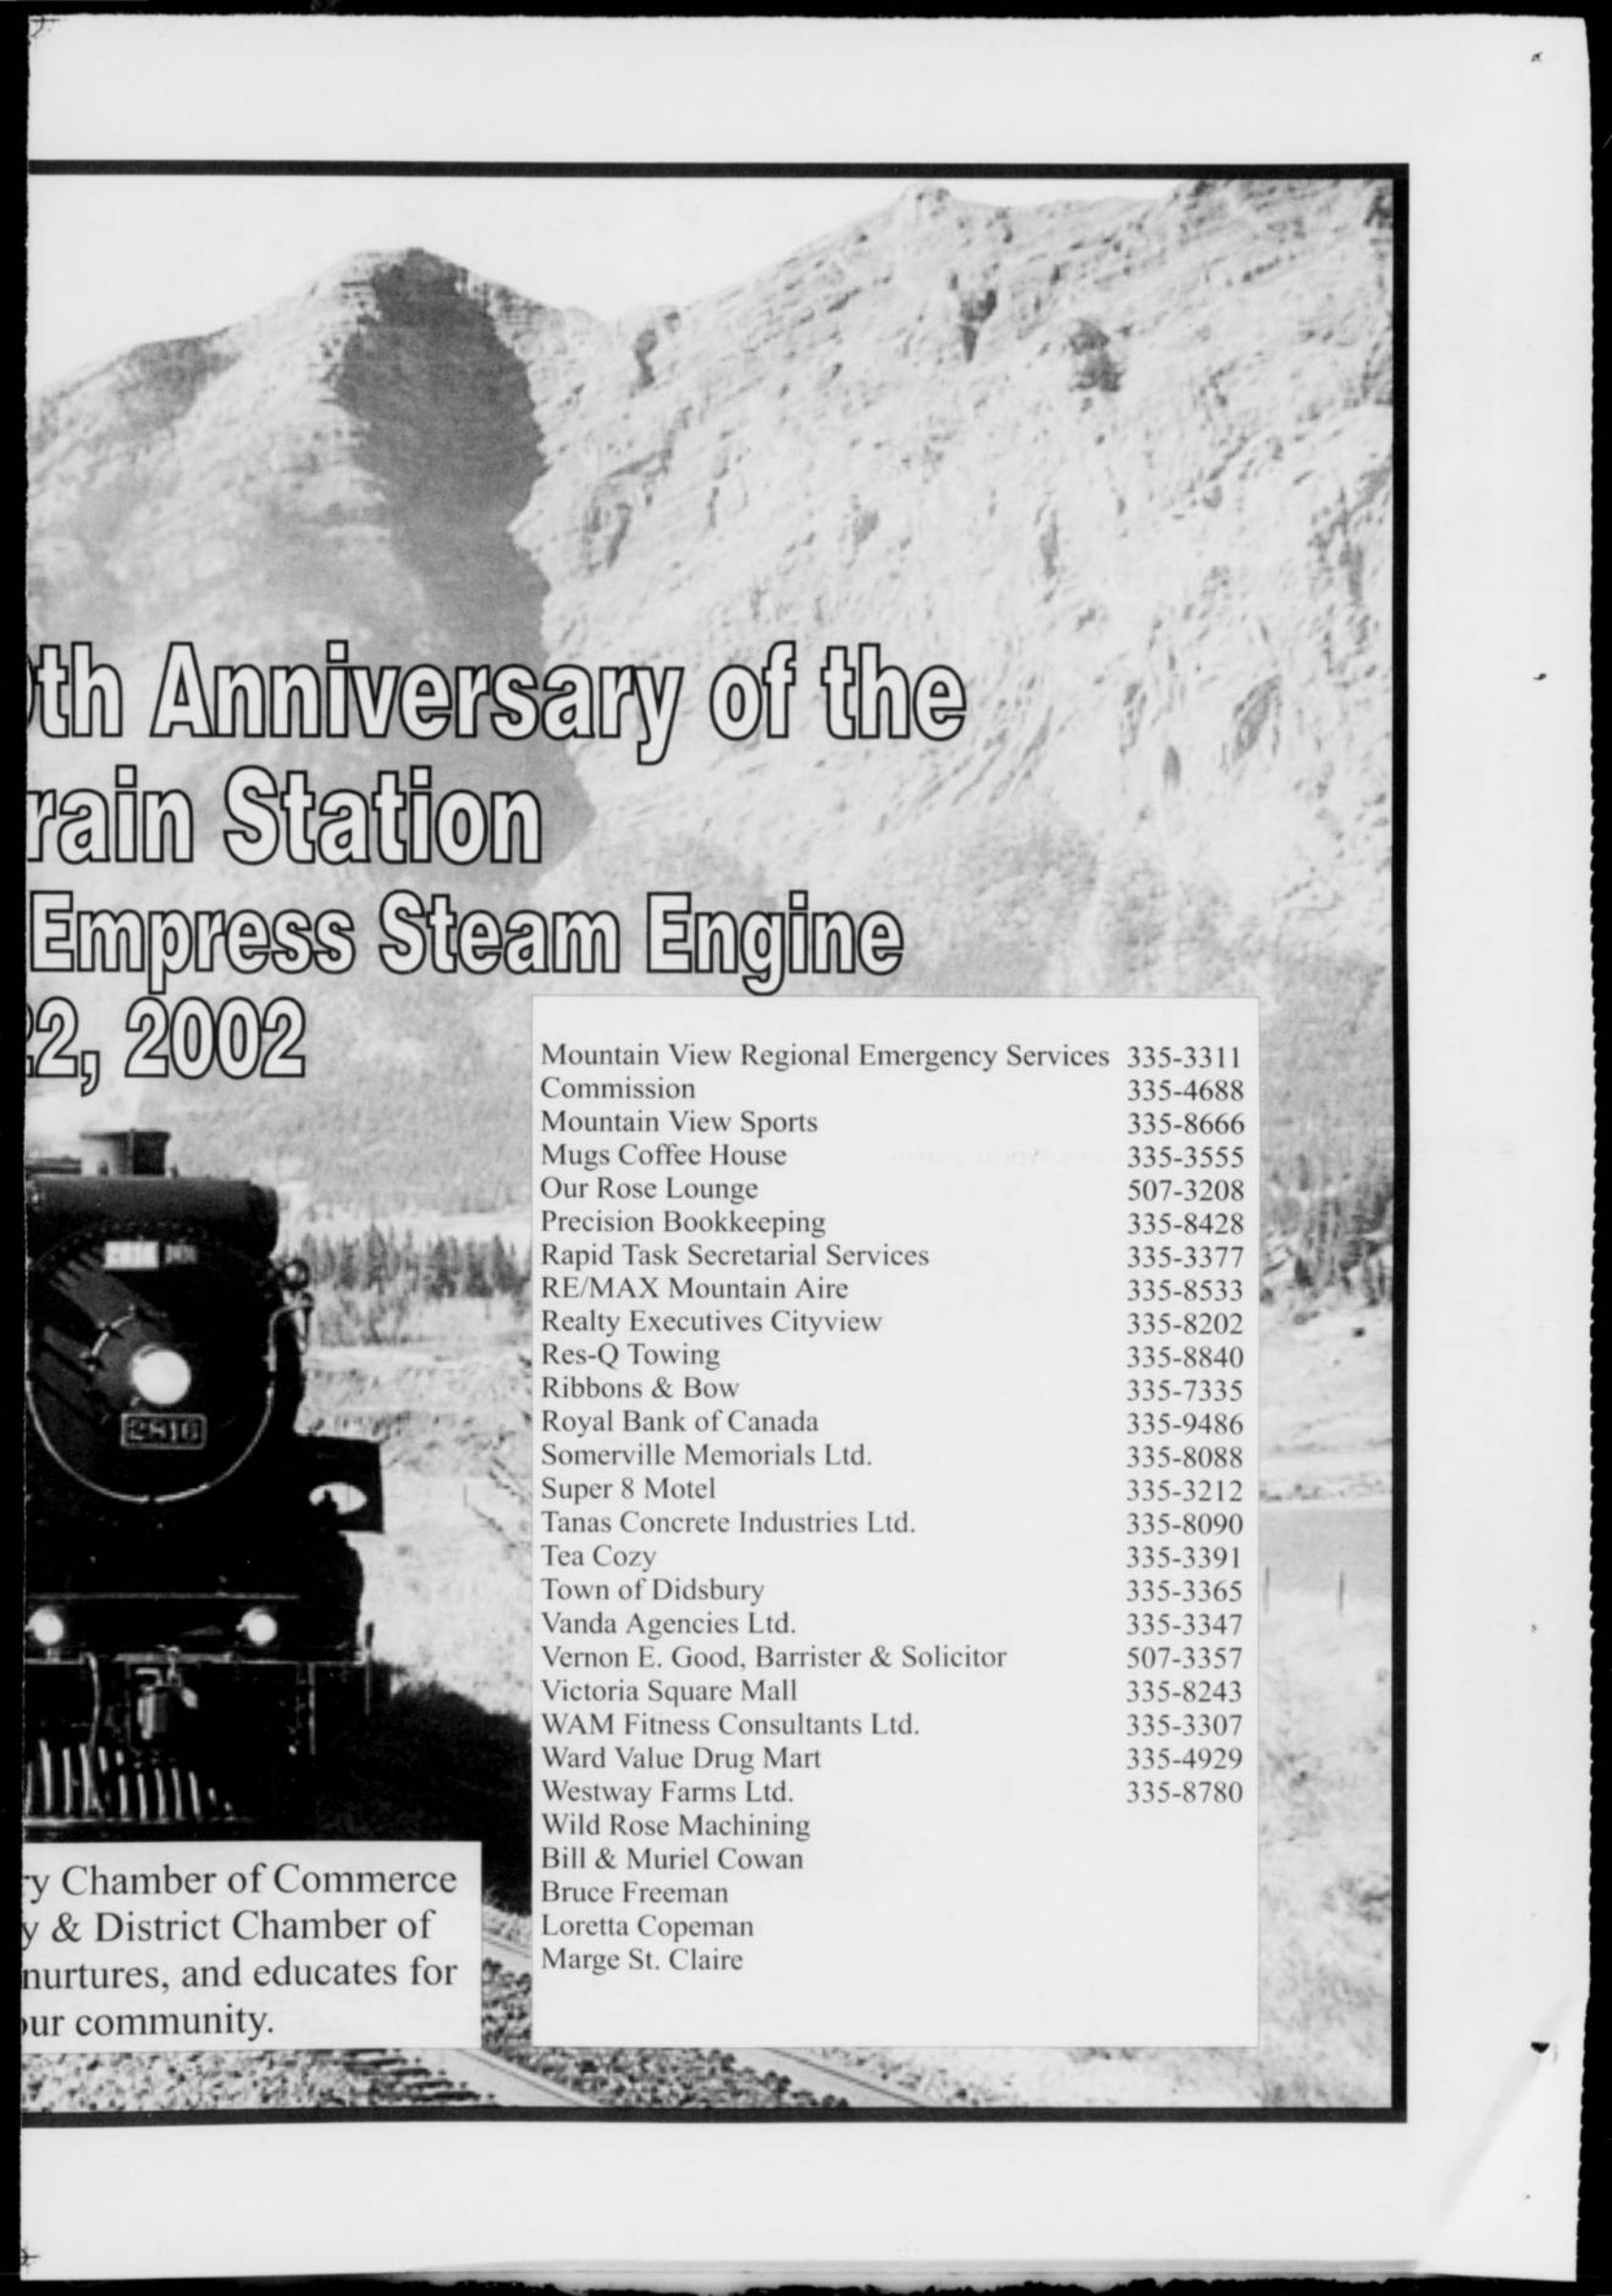

Working along side William Ridley and receiving part time help from Penner's wife, Jimbits is open to the public from 8 am to 5:30 pm Monday thru Saturday.

THERE'S NO ALTERNATIVE TO CONCRETE

TANAS
CONCRETE INDUSTRIES LTD.

Concrete is the basement building material with all the advantages.

It's a proven performer. Rugged, Tough, Durable. A concrete basement will never burn or rot.

And concrete is safe. Quality controlled, concrete needs no toxic chemicals which may be hazardous to building occupants.

Concrete is an energy-wise choice. A concrete basement needs little heat or air conditioning. And concrete walls are easily insulated.

Economically, concrete is a good investment. A concrete basement will add years of life to the foundation and considerable dollars to the resale value of your building.

Add up the advantages. There's simply no alternative to quality controlled concrete. The best basement building material.

PUBLIC NOTICE

Notice to PILOTS and to the PUBLIC

Closure of Airspace

June 25-28, 2002

On March 20, 2002, the Government of Canada announced that airspace restrictions will be in effect from June 25-28, 2002, around Kananaskis, Alberta, as part of safety and security requirements for the G8 Summit.

Calgary International Airport will remain open, but travellers may encounter some delays due to the restrictions.

Members of the public can contact their local airport for more information on how the restrictions may affect air travel.

Pilots are reminded to check their Aviation Information Publication (AIP) Supplement Special and Notices to Airmen (NOTAMS) for details on specific restrictions on air travel and air activity within affected areas.

THE RESTRICTIONS INCLUDE:

- Class F Restricted area (CYR 255) within an 80 nautical mile radius of Kananaskis
- Class C Airspace within 35 nautical miles east of Calgary International Airport

More information is available on Transport Canada's Web site at www.tc.gc.ca

OBITUARY

DAVIES - John Emlyn (Jack): John Emlyn (Jack) Davies passed away peacefully at the age of 90 on Sunday, June 2, 2002, in Didsbury Hospital after a brief illness. He is survived by his sister-in-law Nellie Davies, beloved niece Mary Jane Davies (Zen Kondra), their children Alex Kondra (Janette) and Andrew Kondra (Joy) and numerous nieces and nephews in South Wales, U.K. He was predeceased by his brothers David Davies, Joseph Charles Davies, Caradog Davies, half-sister Anne Evans and half-brother Arthur Davies. Jack was born on April 12, 1912, in Bedwelty, South Wales, the son of Arthur and Harriet Davies. He emigrated to Canada in May 1928, with his family and settled in the Garfield district west of Carstairs, Alberta. He was dedicated to Horned Hereford cattle breeding for 35 years. He loved his Clydesdale horses and lived for the farm. A private service was held. No flowers please. Memorial tributes may be made by donating to the charity of your choice. Arrangements in care of SUNSET FUNERAL SERVICES, Linden, AB.

OBITUARY

JACKSON - Clayton 1920-2002: Clayton Jackson, beloved husband of Mrs. Rae Jackson of Calgary, passed away at the Foothills Hospital on Saturday, June 8, 2002 at the age of 82 years. Clayton was born in Acme, AB on January 22, 1920 and was educated there. In later years, he farmed in the Didsbury and Carstairs areas before moving to Calgary in 1953 to take over a riding stable. Here he met Rae, who was to become his wife. He left Calgary and for the next few years worked for various ranchers, first at Sundre and then east of Olds. He returned to Calgary in 1956, living in Bowness, and worked for the City of Calgary for over twenty years. In 1973, he moved to an acreage in Bearsaw, and after his retirement in 1979, had more time to devote to his horses and cattle, which had always played a large part in his life. Clayton is survived by his wife, Rae; his son, Lyle; his sister, Myrtle Allen; his brother, Arthur and their families. Funeral Services will be held at McINNIS & HOLLOWAYS "Crowfoot Chapel", (82 Crowfoot Circle N.W., Calgary), on Thursday, June 13, 2002 at 3:00 p.m. Graveside Service to follow at Cochrane Cemetery. To email expressions of sympathy: condolences@mcinnisandholloway.com. Subject Heading: Clayton Jackson. If friends so desire, memorial tributes may be made directly to the Parkinson's Society of Southern Alberta, 480D, 36th Avenue S.E., Calgary, AB. T2G 1W4. Telephone: (403) 243-9901. In living memory of Clayton Jackson, a tree will be planted at Fletcher Park, Airdrie, AB by McINNIS & HOLLOWAY FUNERAL HOMES, "Crowfoot Chapel", 82 CROWFOOT CIRCLE N.W., CALGARY. TELEPHONE: (403) 241-0044.
